captain james cook was the greatest explorer of his age perhaps of any age he was a leader of men a master voyager who journeyed to unknown places a seeker of knowledge who commanded three demanding scientific expeditions he and his crews had encounters with peoples of the south seas which could lead to mutual respect and trade but also to misunderstanding and violence even before he died his exploits were widely admired but his death at the hands of hawaiians turned him into a legendary figure a hero of the enlightenment who was said to have brought civilization to the pacific while giving up his own life in the process yet despite everything that is known about cook s life and many adventures the man himself remains shrouded in mystery with this book dan o sullivan seeks to put this right and casts vivid light on cook s character teasing out his personality from the pages of his own journals as well as an original and illuminating re examination of cook s complex character this is also a vivid introduction to his life and times which is essential reading for anyone with an interest in this incomparable sea captain james cook the circumnavigator was a native of the district of cleveland yorkshire but of his ancestry there is now very little satisfactory information to be obtained nichols in his topographer and genealogist suggests that james cooke the celebrated mariner was probably of common origin with the stockton cookes his reason for the suggestion being that a branch of the family possessed a crayon portrait of some relation which was supposed to resemble the great discoverer he makes no explanation of the difference in spelling of the two names and admits that the sailor s family was said to come from scotland dr george young certainly the most reliable authority on cook s early years who published a life in 1836 went to whitby as vicar about 1805 and claims to have obtained much information about his subject through intercourse with his relatives friends and acquaintances including one or two surviving school companions and appears to be satisfied that cook was of scotch extraction dr george johnston a very careful writer states in his natural history of the eastern borders that in 1692 the father of james thomson the author of the seasons was minister of ednam roxburghshire and a man named john cook was one of the elders of the kirk this john cook married on the 19th january 1693 a woman named jean duncan by whom he had a son james baptised 4th march 1694 and this child johnston positively asserts was afterwards the father of the future captain cook the dates of the marriage and baptism have been verified by the reverend john burleigh minister of ednam and they agree with the probable date of the birth of cook s father for he died in 1778 at the age of eighty five owing to the loss of the church records for some years after 1698 mr burleigh is unable to trace when this james cook left ednam to better himself but he would take with him a testificate of church membership which might possibly but not probably still exist attracted perhaps by the number of scotch people who flocked into the north of yorkshire to follow the alum trade then at its height james cook settled down and married and the first positive information to be obtained is that he and his wife grace her maiden name has so far escaped identification though she is known to have been a native of cleveland resided for some time at morton in the parish of ormsby and here their eldest child john was born in january 1727 dr young says that james cook had a superstition that his mother s farewell was prophetic of his marriage for her words were god send you grace cook s three great voyages into the uncharted pacific told in his own words travel classic recounts exploration of the eastern coastline of australia mapping of new zealand discovery of hawaiian islands much more

among all those englishmen who from a humble origin have risen to an honourable position captain james cook is especially worthy of record his parents were of the peasant class□his father having commenced life as a farm labourer and his mother being a cottager□s daughter probably however they were both superior to others of the same station as the husband in process of time became farm bailiff to his employer□a mr thomas skottowe this was about the year 1730 and the farm of which he had the management was called airy holme near ayton in yorkshire not far from this place at the village of marton near stockton upon tees his son james was born on october 27 1728 james was one of nine children all of whom he survived with the exception of a sister who married a fisherman at redcar the father of this family spent the latter years of his life with his daughter at redcar and was supposed to have been about eighty five years old at the time of his death so that he must have had the satisfaction of seeing his son rising in his profession though probably he little thought of that son as establishing a fame which would be handed down in history james cook does not appear to have enjoyed any peculiar educational advantages but owed his subsequent advancement chiefly to his own intelligence perseverance and diligence he first went to a village school and was afterwards sent at the expense of mr skottowe to an ordinary commercial school kept by a mr pullen he continued there four years and was then apprenticed to mr william sanderson a grocer and haberdasher at the fishing town of straiths ten miles from whitby it may be supposed that the occupation in which he was engaged was not suited to his taste the sea was constantly before his eyes and the desire to seek his fortune on it sprang up within him and grew stronger and stronger till in about a year after he went to straiths he obtained a release from his engagement with mr sanderson and apprenticed himself to messrs walker and company shipowners of whitby
